THE ORDINANCE would allow landlords to increase the rent, when a tenant moves out, based on how many years the tenant has been in the building — including allowing an increase of $1,750 per month if a tenant has been in the rent-controlled apartment more than 10 years.

“This proposal is not just bad policy, it’s a Trojan Horse wheeled into the city under the false banner of ‘affordable housing.’ Make no mistake, this is the landlord lobbyists dream come true, gift wrapped and presented as a solution to the very problem it will exacerbate,”

-Michelle Hirsch
Member, New Jersey Tenant Organization
